

Effective application of the automotive core tools

IATF16949 places even more emphasis on employee and internal/second party auditor understanding of the relevant Automotive Core Tools, namely APQP, FMEA, MSA, SPC and PPAP.

Evidence has shown that this is a common area for nonconformities in external third party audits to IATF 16949, with over 20,000 nonconformities raised globally in 2016 related to lack of effective implementation of the tools!

For organizations to release people for training for a day or more is becoming increasingly difficult.

Quality Partner has developed a set of 11 short videos (each between 10 and 18 minutes) to provide a great way to help organization raise knowledge of the tools in short teach points.

Full details of the scope of each video can be found at www.qualitypartner.co.uk/core-tools/

The videos are suitable for anybody in an organization who uses or interfaces with any of the tools, including operators, supervisors, quality engineers, managers, and internal/second party auditors.

To provide evidence of understanding/competence, for those purchasing access to the full set of videos, they will have access to a short test of understanding for each video, for personnel to attempt on completion of watching the video. This test can be marked internally within your organization and maintained as documented information for internal or external audit purposes.

Below outlines four cost effective options to purchase access to the videos:

1. Purchase 12 months single user access for a total cost of £79.99 ($100). For this option visit www.qualitypartner.co.uk/core-tools/
2. Purchase 12 months unlimited streaming access by multiusers to the 11 core tool videos for a cost of £500+VAT
3. If you wanted unlimited streaming for no defined period, the cost would be a one off payment of £1,000+VAT
4. If you wanted the videos personalised with your company logo, provided to you in a downloadable format, to upload to your internal learning platform, the fee to set this up would be £1,500+VAT

For any of the options 1) to 4) any person/organization purchasing access to the videos will have access to a short test of understanding for each video, for personnel to attempt on completion of watching the video. This test can be marked internally within your organization and maintained as documented information for internal or external audit purposes.
